David:

Thanks. I am busy with the SAB meeting on ammonia; will get to this in the evening. If we are making substantial changes, we should also cycle back with Kenny and others before we send it to Vandenberg.

Ravi.

Ravi,

My initial reaction was that John was not following our argument.

But, he is a close reader and typically very willing to make a point, so I reread the comments several times.

After that, I can see a number of places where we could be more clear.

Take a look also at my thoughts about his comments. I have not sent to him. I started writing rebuttals and then circled back to see if I was being fair. So, it is more the current state of play in my mind.

David
